MME. SORGUE NOW RED CROSS NURSE

Was Once Referred to By English Police as "Most Dangerous Woman in Europe."

London, Sept. 1.-Associated Press Correspondence)-Mme. Sorgue, Socialist leader, who only a year and a half ago was referred to by an English police official as "the most dangerous woman in Europe," was an honored visitor at the Ministry of LOST—Ring set with eleven diamonds and ruby in center. Reward ing Red Cross work in France since if returned to Rubenstein's store.— the early days of the war, but has now returned to England to address Socialist meetings throughout the county. "I shall urge the British Socialist to follow the example of his French brother in determing to see French brother in determing to see this thing through to the end at any cost," she said of her lecture plans.

"And I riall emphasize especially that we must lay aside agitations and strikes until this more important business of the war is finished."

The advocacy of strikes has been Mme. Sorgue's chief reason for clashing with the authorities in times past, "Madame Trouble" she was general-

"Madame Trouble" she was generally called in Europe, for it is said that she adopted her name because it re-sembled the German word—Sorge for "trouble." She marched at the hof the women's Hunger March Tower Hill in London in 1912, and in the same year she was prevented from speaking at a coal strike meeting in Belfast because a general or-der had been issued for her arrost if she landed in the United Kingdom. She has been imprisoned several times She has been imprisoned several times for her part in disputes, and her face is known to the police of nearly all European industrial storm centers.

Mine. Sorgue is the daughter of Durand de Gaps, a Franch philosopher. Her grandfather was a Russian General, Cripkon.

Sham Battle in New York.

New York, Sept. 25.—Van Cort-land Park resembled a miniature Europe when 10,000 citizens took the field for one of the biggest "war games" New York ever witnessed. Two thousand camped in the park all night.

after a two months' stay and went back to Pocantico Hills, his New York estate. His last act on the platform of the East One Hundred and Fifth Street station of the New York Central railroad was characteristic.

Solemnly shaking his hand of his three-and-a-balf-year-old grandnephew, little Edward Roberts, he drew out a handful of coins—the majority of which were bright, new pennies—and gave the child a penny. As the boy dropped the coin and recovered it he added a nickel to the gift.

"Goodby, Edward," Rockefeller said, "Be a good little man and put the money is your savings bank."

In gray suit and overcoat and inevitable black square hat Rockefeller beamed in high good humor on the crowd. Though feeble, he appeared in good health, and on the trip from Forest Hill had insisted on sitting in the front seat of the limousine with the chauffeur. with the chauffeur

The Service of the Sanitary Barber Shop is Absolutely Sanitary

IN EVERY DETAIL

It is an easy matter and costs nothing to name a shop "Sanitary" b-u-t to render a PERFECTLY SANITARY barber service is different

In shaving, the lather is first made from Soap Powder, sifted into an absolutely Clean Mug and Brush, which was first scalded out with boiling water; this avoids the use of the "leavings" of the lather from the man who was shaven just before you. The Razor is emersed into a Carbolic Acid solution before it is used on any patron. All Towels are taken from our Famous Buffalo Sterilizer, where in each towel is sterilized just as a Surgeon sterilizes his instruments before a serious operation. The Combs, Brushes, Clippers, Shears, etc. are all kept in Formaldihyde Antiseptic Sterilizers.

This Means Much to You But Costs You Nothing Extra

You, Mr. Particular Man

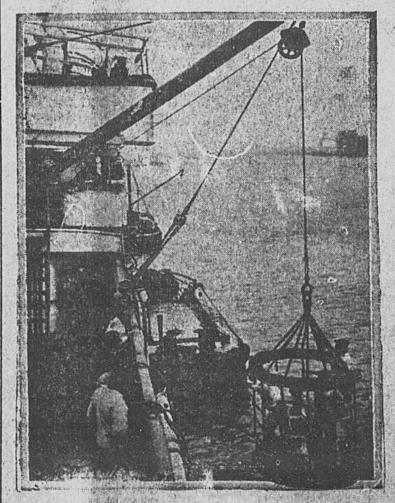

You shave yourself because you are in the habit of doing it, and get it off your mind the first thing in the morning when you arise. You cannot, however, cut your hair. We have a corps of expert barbers who pay particular attention to particular men. We will give you a head-barber's cut every time, sanitary in every detail, and one which will please you, no matter how fastidious your ideas may be. Try is next time! You'll be glad, and so will we.
